

The precise line of demarcation as between the lamb and the lion, one or the other of which March is supposed to resemble upon her advent, is a little obscure this year.

As a caution to our readers we advise them, moreover not to take this "in like a lamb—out like a lion" stuff too seriously or too literally. Rather than a description of the beginning and ending of the month, it is a description of the beginning of any day or even hour, in a month. A day in March may be pleasant as you please, and end in a snowstorm. Laughing one moment, sobbing the next, cruel and cutting the third, it is a skittish month and given to uncertain moods. Perhaps the best thing about it is that month and given to uncertain moods. Perhaps the best thing about it is that it signifies the end of winter (and what a winter) and the beginning of spring. And whatever spring is like it's bound to be better than winter.

March doesn't amount to much these days alongside of what it used to be. Originally the Roman year had ten months and the first of these was Martius, named for the god of Mars. Later on, Januarius and Februarius were added, or rather prefixed, taking the headman-ship away from Martius, or March, and annexing much of the territory it covered. March may be full of false hopes, capricious and uncertain to the Nth degree, but we wish they had left the old calendar as it was, with it to begin the year and without any January or February. As for those two, we bid them adieu without regret, and welcome March. We'll be even gladder to see April.

If you ever looked around for a fair minded man and given the task up for a bad job you may get some satisfaction out of knowing there is one, after all. It is Professor Albert Einstein, and he may be recommended as such without reservation.

A few years ago Professor Einstein came forward with a startling new theory of matter. It was revolutionary, and precipitated a great deal of argument among scientists. Ordinary people couldn't understand much about it and consequently were out of the argument, but they were able to enjoy the debate even so. Since then Professor Einstein has gone farther on and on, and so have his fellow and, in some cases, disagreeing scientists. Some of them have looked

In this issue of the Herald is a photo of the playgrounds and building and carries an article from Dr. Conner who explains the campaign. ## Colored Play Ground and Day Nursery

By Dr. B. E. Conner

Give them a chance. Keep them from the streets. Protect them from hazards of speeding cars and the destruction of poor environment. Help them to make better citizens in the future. This can be done by your support, good will and encouragement. It is our Christian and civic duty to help make conditions better for all the children of our city.

The Colored Day Nursery and Play Ground is making an appeal to the citizens of Cameron to blend their forces to make this institution permanent. It cannot be done except under a conservative program, well planned and supported by a sufficient Budget for the year to carry on the work. The budget for the year 1936 will be about $900.00. This amount must be raised by the efforts of the Board of Directors, and the donations of outstanding organizations, both business, civic and professional. There is no government aid fund available for us, because the quota for government Aid Negro Day Nursery and Play Grounds have been reached and given elsewhere. Therefore, we must raise our finance locally.

This work was begun January 9, 1934 in an humble way by the organization of a Young Women's Recreation Club, composed of sixteen.

Through their efforts a temporary play ground was established in North Cameron on a field owned and donated for use by Mr. T. S. Henderson. By various means of raising funds and the very fine encouragement of the Chamber of Commerce, the work was successfully carried out and a supervisor engaged.

As time marched on, a larger and more constructive program was launched, thus requiring the appointment of the present Board of Directors, who are representatives from the various churches of our group in Cameron. Through their faithful ef-

FOR CONGRESS

Hon. Frank B. Tirey

al District of Texas to succeed the Honorable O. H. Cross, who has announced that he will not run for reelection.

I believe in President Roosevelt, in his sincerity of purpose, and with proper cooperation I am convinced that he will pull us out of the depression.

I believe that upon agriculture depends the prosperity of our country; that a plan should be worked out that will increase the annual income of agricultural products to a level which will enable those who are engaged in agriculture to maintain a standard of living equal to that maintained by people in other occupations. As long as manufactured products are protected by a tariff, agricultural products should have the same protection.

I believe that every man, woman and child is entitled to enjoy social, economic, religious and industrial freedom. I think our laws should be made so that everybody should have a chance to earn their living and enjoy the products of their labor.

I believe that labor is entitled to a living wage. I am in favor of an honest dollar and an honest day's work. I do not believe in squandering money either publicly or privately.

I believe in an adequate old age pension for those who are not able to care for themselves.

I am against entering any European war or paying for one.

I believe this country should be governed for the benefit of humanity and, as President Roosevelt has said, "The seat of our Government should be in Washington and not in Wall Street."

I feel that our country is passing through the most critical period of its history and this is the time for every citizen to take an interest in his Government. We face new conditions and have new adjustments to make. Many of our problems are deep-seated and cannot be solved without great thought and care. I would try to cooperate with the leaders of our Party and try to help work out the problems that confront us, and if the people see fit to elect me, I shall be very grateful.

He states that he won't need the rock for a pal until after the election this year, but nevertheless, he intends to put it in his chest of souvenirs.

We are sure the pal rock will give him a good consolation that he always has a "Pal."

Elementary Principles

America has a government based upon certain elementary principles which have constituted the firm foundation upon which representative and democratic government has developed.

The cardinal principle is that the powers of the nation should be divided into three departments, namely, legislative, executive and judicial. A further provision is that these departments should be kept separate, so that the rights and liberties of our citizens should be protected from any king, kaiser, or dictator.

Under our form of government it is the function of the Congress to enact laws providing for the manner and method by which the affairs of the nation's business shall be transacted and declaring who shall represent the country in such transactions. Neither the President nor the Supreme Court has any power to provide for the operation of our government.

The judiciary, with the Supreme Court as its final voice, has the responsible duty of interpreting and applying the legislation enacted. It declares the rights of our citizens and protects them in the exercise thereof. It is independent as any unit in our government, in order that it may be free and fearless in discharging its obligation. Neither the Congress nor the President has the duty of interpreting our laws and deciding controversies.

The president is the chief executive of the nation but not only the executive agent, and without power to control the acts of other executive agencies, except as provided for by the constitution. The people themselves elect other officers who may or may not be subject to Presidential control. Neither the Congress nor the Supreme Court can perform the function of executive officers of the country.

The division of power and authority has been demonstrated to be a safeguard for the liberties and rights of citizens. If one man had supreme and sole authority in the nation he would be able to disregard any rights and liberties of any person, but in this case we would be living under a tyranny and not a representative, democratic government. In such a case there would be no elections because the "king" would have all power.

When the government of the United States was formulated the people of the nation were free, liberty-loving and democratic. They had no desire to have a royal ruler, or, as the modern term is, a dictator, to rule them. We do not believe the citizens of any country today are more in favor of one man rule than their ancestors were, who fought kings and acquired liberty that they might live as free men and not slaves.

It is important for the welfare of the people of America that this division of fundamental authority be maintained. The Congress should not usurp the powers delegated to the Congress or the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court should not try to exercise authority not granted it by the Constitution. The same fundamental principle applies to any executive; he should not by force, subterfuge or otherwise, seek to exercise the functions of the government allotted to the Congress or to any judiciary.

20 Lynched—84 Saved

The annual lynching statistics of Tuskegee Institute, one of the outstanding colored educational institutions of the country, have been made public for the year 1935.

Twenty persons were lynched in the United States, seven of which were in Mississippi and all except one in California were credited to southern states. Two of the victims were white men.

An encouraging factor is that this report shows that eighty-four persons were saved by officers from possible harm at the hands of mobs, and of these sixty-seven were Negroes. This means, according to the Tuskegee figures, that in four cases out of every five in which mobs sought to injure negroes white officers of the law protected the negroes.

Of the twenty lynchings one over half took place in Louisiana and Mississippi leaving only nine which occurred in other states. Florida, Georgia and Texas were the reported locations of two each and California, North Carolina, and Tennessee one each. These figures indicate that public sentiment is fairly generally opposed to the crime of lynching.

More Federal Prisoners

Prisoners in Federal institutions numbered 15,417 at the close of the fiscal year 1935 according to Sanford Bates, Director of the Bureau of Prisons. This number was 3,216 more than a year previously.

The repeal of the prohibition law hasn't decreased crime, as far as federal laws are involved, as the "wets" used to promise when the drive for repeal was on. Nor has it eliminated violations of the liquor laws.

"The relief which we expected to come from the repeal of prohibition has not materialized," Mr. Bates said. "During the year 1932 when the enforcement of the liquor laws under the Department of Justice was at height, nearly 50 per cent of those committed to Federal Institutions were sent there for liquor law violations. For 1935 the proportion is nearly as large as it was during the prohibition days."

A Ruthless Minority Must Be Restrained

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently reported the wholesale resumption of child labor since the collapse of NRA. Without debating the worthiness of the defunct enterprise, one may agree with his statement that "business executives have not the slightest intention of paying any attention to the social consequences of productive policies that reap quick profits unless the control arm of organized society restrains."

Unfortunately the manufacturer or business man with a sense of social justice operates in a field where he must meet the competition of a minority ever willing to do anything for profit. Inevitably, the ruthless practices of the unprincipled will upset the intentions of the high minded, with the result that harmful practices prevail. This is true because the buyer of products is interested only in price.

The Supreme Court of the United States killed the NRA, but the decision does not change the facts that tend to create evil conditions. The States killed the NRA, but the delay, might possibly meet the challenge and solve the difficulty. They can do so if the people of each state insist upon action.

Whether proper regulation is practical through state action is doubtful but, if it is the only constitutional procedure, the people of the United States should demand proper legislation along this line.

Life on Mars and Elsewhere

For many years astronomers speculated upon the existence of life on other planets and the general public wallowed in the wake of the scientific argument.

Today, advanced astronomers admit the possibility of life on the planet Mars, where the atmosphere apparently contains some oxygen and water vapor. Of course, the debate is whether life similar to that existing on earth can be found on Mars. Apparently, a low form of vegetation might survive on the planet named after the war god of the ancients.

The question, it seems to us, is nothing for the average person to worry about. We hardly imagine that life throughout a universe as vast as that revealed by the largest telescope depends upon conditions identical to those existing on the world. For some reason life seems to exist under almost any condition on the globe and we imagine that elsewhere, under other conditions, some form of life must be existent. However, this is one of the problems that can not be solved, even by American politicians.

The Digest Poll

With 1,370,774 votes from forty-eight states tallied the Literary Digest poll shows 541,845 now approving "the policies of the Roosevelt New Deal" and 828,929 voting "no." The per centage of support is 39.53 and compares with the 61.15 majority that the New Deal was accorded in a similar poll in 1934.

What does it represent? Politicians and partisans are trying to give the answer, with the main idea of explaining it favorably to their own sides. Plainly, inasmuch as the ballots were sent to the same mailing list as in 1934, the poll shows a tremendous decline in the support accorded the President's policies by the people receiving the ballots.

Just what this means, translated in terms of the forthcoming election, is not certain. The New Deal is not so popular with business men, as it was, and they are undoubtedly heavily polled in the ballots taken. It is not popular with others, notably radicals, who want reform, and conservatives, who want much less. If one knew whether negative votes were cast for one or the other of these reasons the interpretation of the poll might be easier.

A Plan for Old Age

One of the results of the passage of Federal Society Security Act has been the awakening of interest on the part of some large companies in the welfare of their employees. Some of these organizations have announced plans to protect their employees against the economic dangers the Social Security Act seeks to eliminate.

The trouble with the initiative now being shown by these corporations is that it comes after government action has forced it. From the standpoint of society it is better for some nation-wide plan to be worked out than to have a limited number of employees who happen to work for such corporations to be protected while the great mass of workers remained unprotected.

"It Doesn't Matter"

"It doesn't matter whose son you are," said Joseph Stalin last week to a young farmer from the mines of Russia, "but who and what you are and how you work."

The sentence is good advice for all believers in democracy but especially significant because the young man told the Soviet dictator, "I am the son of a kulak."

These comparatively wealthy land-owners have been the object of much persecution in Russia, where their lands have been appropriated and scattered among the loyal communists. Toward them, as a group the ruling class of present day Russia have exhibited considerable hatred.

Stalin's remarks came as a group of workers assembled in Moscow as the guests of the government to receive public praise for high production records. It seems to mark an end to some of the bitterness in the intense class struggle in Sovietland.

EDITORIAL

The thought that our state will be one hundred years old March 2 makes a delicious tingle of pride run thru us. As students in Texas, some of us may be destined to play an important part in the future development of our state. Most of us will spend the rest of our lives as citizens of Texas. We should all "turn out" and help the Lone Star State celebrate her one hundredth anniversary.

FUTURE FARMERS INCREASE MEMBERSHIP

With the initiation of seven new green hands to the Future Farmer organization, the membership has grown to forty-two, and a number of other boys expect to make application for membership. In addition to the Green Hand initiation of new members, six Future Farmer degrees have been conferred. Advancement to the Future Farmer degree is based on achievement in home work, and the Lone Star Farmer degree, although much more difficult to secure and only awarded at the State FFA convention, is expected to be won by some of the Cameron FFA members this year.

A boy from each chapter will pay tribute to one other boy in his chapter for outstanding work. ## MOTHER! don't experiment with your Child's Cold

Rub on VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Farmers Hear Kraft Official at Maysfield

How much money do you get for the pasture, hay, ensilage and farm grains that you feed to your dairy cows, Mr. Rodde, field man for the Kraft Phoenix Cheese Corporation, asked Maysfield farmers at their regular evening school meeting Monday night.

The answer depends upon a number of good dairy practices, the group was told. These practices include: First, Good management. Second, Proper feeding. Third, Weeding or culling. Fourth, Breeding. Good management includes having the right amount of pasture for the herd with some green stuff at the time, having the right kinds and amount of equipment and shelter, providing clean milk, and the proper development of young stock, Mr. Rodde said. Weeding or culling is done mainly with the milk scale although the Babcock test of each cow is important, it was stated.

Feeding correctly involves the feeding of all the roughages the cows will eat, a majority of which is good pasture, the feeding of ample quantities of home grown grain and enough protein and mineral supplements to balance the feed properly, Rodde stated. Ensilage is important, farmers agreed, and the trench silo is the most economical way of providing this silage, it was said.

The policies of the Kraft organization were explained and the necessity of producing clean milk was stressed. The causes of variation of tests of milk were explained briefly.

"Trench silos and their Value" was chosen as the topic for next week's meeting which will be held Monday night as usual. A number of new members attended this week's meeting, bringing the enrollment to 34 for the school. The series of meetings on dairying have been in progress since November and will continue for two or three weeks longer, E. D. Parnell, Vocational Agriculture teacher in charge, says.

Visitors Monday night included John Henderson, Chamber of Commerce president; B. M. Alexander and Phillip Miller, Kraft officials, W. F. Paden, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Farmers in attendance included H. L. Atkinson, Bill and V. N. Thweatt, E. E. and W. W. Pool, Mr. Butts, Mr. Burnett, Leroy and W. H. Massengale, Floyd Phipps, John Kennon, J. B. Aycock, Jim Francis, Floyd Cooper, E. A. and J. C. Cauthen, H. H. Hartsfield and others.

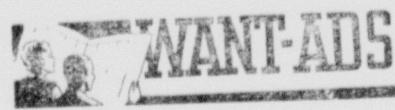

It is wonderful that a political system endures whereby we devote three years to ruining ourselves and only one thing being saved.

MRS. LUTHER CARLTON BURIED AT CORINTH

Funeral services for Mrs. Luther Carleton, 30, of Ad Hall, near Cameron, were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Carleton residence. Rev. P. L. Caperton of Cameron, pastor of the North and South Elm churches, conducted the services. Interment was made in the Corinth cemetery.

Mrs. Carleton was born and reared in West Texas and was married at Coleman to Luther Carleton. Shortly after their marriage, they moved to Milam county where they lived for several years and where Mr. Carleton is engaged in farming at Ad Hall. Mrs. Carleton died suddenly Saturday morning.

Surviving are her husband and three children of Ad Hall, her parents Mr. and Mrs. Welch of Coleman, and three sisters of Gladewater and Longview.

Those from Cameron to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Evans, Miss Laurita and Gus Evans, Mrs. Leona White and Rev. and Mrs. P. L. Caperton.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

PARNELL TO JUDGE POULTRY EXHIBITS

E. D. Parnell, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Cameron schools, has been selected to judge the poultry show at the Southwestern Stock Show at Fort Worth March 15 and 16.

Judge Branch who has judged the poultry show for years died recently and Mr. Parnell was selected from available judges throughout Texas.

This assignment comes as a distinct compliment to Mr. Parnell. The show has about 2000 birds and is the largest of its kind in Texas outside the Dallas Fair.

Even a sober second thought has been known to stagger a little.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

I choose this method to inform Cameron and other Milam County citizens that in Cameron there are two men who are known by the name of "Alvin Matula."

My name is Alvin D. Matula, and I am the son of Jos. Matula, long time resident of this city. I conduct a grocery store in Santa Fe Town.

Years ago, a small boy, Alvin Teaser, who had lost his parents, was given a home by my uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matula of this city. The Teaser boy was not adopted but he lived with my relatives until their death here a few years ago.

The fact that Mr. Teaser chooses to be called Alvin Matula often causes misunderstanding and confusion. Let it be remembered that my initials are A. D. and that Mr. Teaser does not have the second initial "D." The use of my second initial would help to keep mail, letters, etc., straight, and as it is, our mail is often interchanged.

My record is a clean one in every respect.

Sincerely,
Alvin D. Matula.

A. B. H. CLUB

Wm. Strzinek of the A. B. H. Club, an association of state and national importance, announced that new members have been received as follows: Dr. Leland Denson, Nig Moody, Dr. W. R. Newton, Jr., The Cameron Herald, George Mayo Newton, Dr. C. G. Swift, J. H. Boone, Cameron Enterprise.

The club is benevolent in purpose and is engaged in many charitable enterprises as well as social service, including aid to youths and others who need the stable influence of this organization.

Two Are Held In Robbery Of Jones Prairie Office

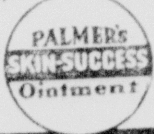

Waco, Texas, Feb. 24.—With Karl Sherman, Waco banker, as foreman, federal grand jury went into session Monday morning.

Among the cases going before the grand jury are those against Dorsey Miles and Carl Henderson, each charged with robbing a post office in Milam county. Miles is charged with robbing the office at Maysfield Oct. 23, and Henderson with robbing that at Jones Prairie on Dec. 2.

The pair was brought from Austin where the complaints were filed, Saturday, in custody of United States Marshall Guy McNamara.

Bridge Feat Here Calls Forth Award to E. H. Coffield

A choice compliment to genius was the award this week by friends, of a certificate of graduation from the Culbertson system of Contract Bridge, to E. H. Coffield.

The presentation was made by Stanton Dossett and Stanley Swift, also exponents of the system. In a recent course Mr. Coffield, according to his friends, completed mastery of the amazing game in two sittings whereas it ordinarily requires weeks and months.

Because of this aptitude as a student of bridge he earned the well placed admiration of his fellows. Normal awards from colleges, less difficult heights to scale, are sheep skins. A precedent has been set here, for the award was made in the form of a goat skin some four feet long by two wide, elaborately and interestingly inscribed to set forth in testimony, Mr. Coffield's achievement in advancing so rapidly in the Culbertson system.

Mr. Coffield, a man not given to display, received the award in the quiet of his office, and in well chosen words thanked his friends for their manifestation of appreciation over his unusual attainment.

Better buying days in Cameron are provided by B. F. Stewart's grocery and market announcing this week a sale of quality foods to inaugurate March buying.

Better Buying For March at Stewart's

The big ad in the Herald, Cameron's only Thursday morning newspaper, will go to hundreds of homes in the city and over the county. Recent declines in food prices have made a business spurt.

The Stewart store has been re-decorated following a recent fire and a large consignment of new merchandise is included in the sale.

Personal Mention

Bathing Suits For Lettermen Might Be Better Now

A prominent Yoemen fan has suggested to the Herald that bathing suits be substituted for sweaters in the awards promised lettermen of the squad last fall.

It seems certain sweaters will not come in time for use this season, so the suggestion is not a bad one.

Oliver Newton of Houston and Frank Newton of Lufkin were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Newton over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lowe and daughters, Mary Jane and Hazel Jean spent Sunday in Tanglewood with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Moreland.

Mrs. John Stafford and Mrs. Ace Wilkerson of Holland spent Sunday in Cameron. Mrs. Stafford was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Evans and Mrs. Wilkerson of Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp.

Conn R. Isaac, county auditor, is able to return to his office after several days illness.

CAMERON WOMEN AID TEXAS INDIANS

Cameron women who gave beads, skins, fur and other articles requested by the Indian Agent in Polk County, will be glad to hear of a letter of appreciation recently received by Mrs. W. C. Ford who was chairman for this project.

A letter tells of packages having been received from women in many parts of the state, and of the gratitude of the Indians, but stresses the fact that Cameron women supplied articles that were so essential to the proper celebration of their installation ceremonies for their new chief, that thanks were unbounded.

A larger assortment was contained in the box forwarded from here than in any other package.

We feel very thankful that our women could have such a worth-while part in this Centennial celebration among our original Texans.

"To Beat the Band" In a Broadway Raid For Comedy Talent

Hollywood's latest raid on Broadway is represented in "To Beat the Band," RKO Radio's new fimusical, to be shown at Cameron Theater on Thursday, February 27.

Hugh Herbert, widely known to motion picture audiences, received his theatrical baptism on Broadway, authorized several stage plays and was a vaudeville favorite for years.

Co-featured with Herbert in "To Beat the Band" is Helen Broderick, who has long been one of Broadway's favorite comedienes. She was signed for films two years ago, to report when "As Thousands Cheer" closed its New York Run. Said run lasted 74 weeks, while studio executives on the West Coast chewed their nails and widely conjectured whether the thousands back East would ever stop cheering. She finally appeared in her first screen role in "Top Hat."

Eric Blore, who answers to "Here, Hawkins," in "To Beat the Band," was for many years one of England's outstanding stage funsters. He came to America in 1923, and appeared later in numerous New York hits, being called to Hollywood to repeat for the films the success he scored on the stage in "The Gay Divorcee" and later in "Top Hat."

Roger Pryor, son of the noted band leader, is also a former Broadway star and a newcomer to Hollywood. His success in "Moonlight and Pretzels" brought him a film contract.

Making her debut before the cameras as the romantic lead in "To Beat the Band" is Phyllis Brooks, who won national fame as a model for James Montgomery Flagg. McClelland Barclay, John La Gatta and other artists, and then played in stock in the East before her beauty caught the eye of an RKO Radio scout.

Ray Mayer was on the vaudeville stage for many years. Sonny Lamino, 270 pound acrobatic dancer, recently was a headliner on the Fanchron and Marco circuit. The California Collegians orchestra was heavily featured in the stage productions of "Fifty Million Frenchmen" and "Roberta."

CURRY H. D. CLUB.

Curry Home Demonstration Club met February 21 at Mrs. Ed Tindal's with nine members present and two visitors. We combined two programs. The subjects were "The Life we Live" and "Good Manners." The club has been handicapped on account of so much illness but we had good reports and it looks like we are in for a good year of work. The club has bought an oil stove and put it in the school for the children to have hot lunches and it is highly appreciated by the teachers and pupils. We will meet March 6 at the home of Mrs. John Hause. We will be glad to have visitors attend. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostess.

FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Lalla Meyers was a delightful hostess to a party Friday evening at 8 o'clock at her home 702 West Third Street. Shaded lights, with brightly burning fires made attractive the reception rooms.

The hostess was assisted in conducting the game of Lotto by Mrs. S. Kestenbaum and Miss Minnie Stedman. Winners received candy and miniature dressed dolls as prizes. Later guests were invited into the diningroom where an improvised cherry tree rested in the center of the lace laid table. Guests were invited to gather cherries from the tree which upon being opened were found to contain messages when placed together in cross word puzzle style, conveyed the following message: Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Easley of Cross roads announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Elmer, to Joe Anderson, March 8, 1936 at 10 o'clock a. m. at their home." Congratulations and good wishes were showered on the charming little bride to be, who is popular with a large circle of friends in Cameron and over the county. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Easley, he having been a well known merchant of his community for years.

The bridegroom to be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Anderson of Cameron, and is associated with his father in his business, as manager of the Milam Hotel in Cameron.

The hostess served her guests with cherry pie laid with whipped cream and coffee and tea. Favors were tiny hatchets and bunches of violets, which were laid on the refreshment plates.

MULES FOR SALE—Two good home raised mules; one 4 years old and 1 11 years old. Bennie Mundine, 10 miles south of Rockdale, Sandow Road.

CHILD WELFARE BOARD THANKFUL FOR FUNDS

Members of the Milam County Child Welfare Board wish to express thanks and appreciation to every person in Milam county who bought tickets for the President's Balls held on January 30 at Burlington and Cameron. Sixty-four dollars and forty-five cents was obtained from the sale of tickets after all necessary expenses were paid.

Thirty per cent of this amount, or $19.33 has been forwarded to the National treasurer of the President's balls to be used for infantile paralysis cases at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Seventy per cent of $45.12 has been deposited in the Buckholts State Bank to be used for infantile paralysis cases in Milam County.

The amount obtained from sale of tickets on January 30, 1935, for use in Milam county was $149.20. Of this sum $110.44 has been spent for hospitalization, braces for crippled children, and in otherwise giving aid to infantile paralysis cases in Milam county.

Only $83.88 is now in the treasury of the Child Welfare Board for combatting infantile paralysis in this county. Additional funds will have to be raised to meet expenditures during the coming months for other crippled children.

The Texas Society for Crippled children has contributed hospitalization for a number of children, but the society is also handicapped by inadequate funds.

Members of the child welfare board are determined to continue their work until the crippled condition of every handicapped child in the county has been relieved or cured if possible.

Miss Pearl Fulcro, county health nurse is giving valuable service in health work among the children and adults.

A negro health nurse has been loaned to Milam county for February. She will be directed by Miss Fulcro in her work among the negro population.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

By Berenice McLerran

The Tax Collector has moved into his new offices in the basement of the court house. Citizens of this city are anxiously awaiting the orders of the Commissioners' Court for the old two story brick building, formerly occupied by the tax collector, to be torn down.

* Another Jail break here Friday night brings the number up to four jail breaks within a year. A Mexican, charged with kidnapping a 15 year old Mexican girl, escaped. He made his get-away through the same old hole in the top of the jail through which the other prisoners have escaped. Escaping the jail seems to be an easy matter for prisoners, and no one seems to care very much.

Sheriff Max Kennedy this week was showing a large key made from a Prince Albert tobacco can. He said it would open any door in the upstairs of the jail. The key was in possession of one of the prisoners.

Jack Crain Gets 12 Year Sentence

Jack Crain, former convict, got 12 years in Texas prison for burglary, theft and assault with intent to kill, when a jury found him guilty of charges following his pleas in four cases.

The jury found him sane after a hearing that lasted through Monday and Tuesday. Testimony was introduced by the defense alleging Crain insane. The jury found him sane. Immediately following he entered a plea of guilty to all charges and was given 12 years in prison.

Crane engaged in a running gun fight in Rockdale two months ago with officers. He barricaded himself in a cemetery and held off the posse. When darkness fell he escaped along the tracks of the Missouri Pacific railroad and was not seen again until captured in a dock mob at Galveston by Jim Perkins, former Texas Ranger. He was delivered to Sheriff Kennedy at the Milam County jail.

In a wild flight here several weeks ago, after he broke jail, Crain and a negro made for Little River bottom, swam the icy waters and escaped to the woodlands east of the channel. Two days later he was arrested by Constable Will Colvin of Rockdale near that city as he lay asleep by the rails of the Missouri Pacific.

At the time of the shooting in Rockdale it was alleged Crain had made threats against officers, had broken into a garage and stolen fire arms and ammunition. When cornered he barricaded and opened fire on the officers.

R. M. Thompson and W. B. Cline of the Eastham prison farm near Crockett came and testified that Crain had shown no evidence of insanity while in prison under them.

Bill Wallace was appointed by the court to defend Crain and entered a sanity hearing with his client and had considerable testimony from the stand. The state was represented by Emory B. Camp, Criminal District Attorney.

Colbert is Fashion Plate In Picture Coming Soon

The increased leisure that all of us have been enjoying has resulted in a new type of costume for women, according to Kay Francis, glamorous young Warner Brothers star of "I Found Stella Parish," which opens at the Cameron Theatre on Friday, February 28. In fact, Kay calls it a "Leisure Gown" and it is an apt title. "The woman of today has come to have a greater appreciation of her home than ever before," Miss Francis explains. "Perhaps it's because more women have gone into business—more women are devoting time to charitable purposes—more women have become the wage earners for their families. As a result, they have learned to prize their hours of leisure and relaxation and to enjoy them thoroughly."

"And in order to find the greatest enjoyment from their hours of rest, women have needed a costume that would not fall into the category of any of the past. A costume that would be more formal than a negligee or hostess gown, less formal than a regular dinner gown. In other words a frock that would be soft and loose and eminently flattering, that would be perfect for entertaining when an unexpected caller dropped in, yet would also be simple enough for solitary reading, or dinner alone from a tray in one's own room."

"Such a frock is the one that Orry-Kelly designed for me to wear in 'I Found Stella Parish,'" Miss Francis went on. "It's made of soft uncrush-able velvet, with deep loose armholes and a flattering cowl-neckline. The sleeves are caught into long tight cuffs from elbow to wrist. This fitted line is repeated in the bodice, which outlines the form closely through the waistline, then flares into a knee-length tunic. The skirt beneath the tunic is narrow, ending in a yard-long train. And over the entire bodice, golden stars sprinkled at random.

"It's a perfect frock for a woman's hours at home. The rich wine-colored velvet of which it is fashioned means it is warm enough for comfort throughout the long winter evenings. The soft but loose lines of the bodice assure ease of movement, whether it is to pour a friend a cup of tea or to brush one's own hair. The spangled stars strike the so-necessary note of gaiety and semi-formality, while the simplicity of the whole thing make it as smart as it is flattering."

Miss Francis's discovery of a "leisure gown" will be welcome news to other women. And while everyone cannot afford a star spangled velvet, the same idea can well be developed in any number of less expensive fabrics.

Heavy double faced satin—richly toned moire—slipper satin—taffeta—one of the uncut velvets made of synthetic—even a plain heavy crepe, would be lovely for a gown of this type.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Boone

Congressman O. H. Cross at Splawn north of Cameron. He is a native of Bosque county, moving to Cameron in the fall of 1924. He opened a wrecking house and continued in the business for several years. Later he leased and ran the Lankford Hotel and for the past 8 years has been on the farm.

During these 8 years he has made a close study of rural roads and believes he understands the needs of the precinct he hopes to serve. Mr. Boone has been a life long Democrat and is an ex-service man. During the World War he was stationed at Camp Travis attached to the Quartermaster Corps and had charge of warehouses at the San Antonio army center. He rose to the rank of Sergeant in the service. He has never voted any other than the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Boone has a wife and son. In Bosque county when a young man he worked on public roads and knows how to build them. He believes the office of Commissioner is not only a place of responsibility where roads are concerned but is the business agency of the county and as such he would look to all problems facing the county, giving the tax payers value received for all money spent and guarding the finances of the county. Economy would be his aim in all things.

Mr. Boone said that he would consider it his special obligation to see that all roads get their share of tax benefits. Many have been neglected while those who travel them are tax payers. Every quarter of the district would get full consideration under his proposed plan of expending the money. Roads leading through the farm country are necessarily important as are the main highways, most of which are under state maintenance.

If elected Mr. Boone would have no other purpose in mind save to serve all the people of his precinct as well as the people of the county. He asks his friends to lend their support and pledges them in advance that if elected he will render a worthwhile public service.

OUR TOWN

for flaws in his theories. They even made a pretty fair case against the professor and the things he held to be true. And he has recognized the validity of some of the criticisms, and is reshaping his theories to meet them.

It would be refreshing and it might be helpful if some of our politicians and statesmen could be induced to take the hint, and learn from him the process by which he began to question his own ideas. Politicians and public men, of course, are a far cry from scientists, and perhaps this is too much to expect. Still, one can always hope.

Queer day, Saturday. Comes only once in four years. Is a gain or loss, according to the way you look at it. If already married, so much the worse—or better. If you want to rent your home by the year or month, you get a day free. If you are a landlord, you lose a day's rent. If your salary is monthly, or yearly, you give an extra day's work and get nothing for it. But your employer and all the employers in the United States make a corresponding gain running into many millions.

If you have money in the savings bank, you lose a day's interest. This total in America reaches about $1,000,000. It is a gain for the banks, but if they have lent your money, they correspondingly lose a day's interest. Gains and losses, in sum total are literally incalculable. Probably they balance off. But who knows? Maybe they don't. And if you get engaged or married or born or something on February 29, there's no telling what might come of it.

This recommendation was made by the Advisory Board of the Centennial in Milam county in a special meeting Sunday.

Observance will be arranged by a committee on the county program as follows: Mrs. R. H. McIntosh, Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp, Rev. Tim O'Sullivan, Niley Smith and T. S. Henderson.

Mrs. J. C. Culpepper, secretary, has been active in arranging details of the proposed county celebration.

SPEAKS TO LIONS

out of the conference chamber still carrying the original broad powers for the secretary of agriculture to make grants to farmers directly or through states for two years, to be followed by a permanent program of subsidies going only to states that adopt federal formulas for crop control through changing from commercial to soil-building crops.

The conferees accepted the controversial house provision requiring the secretary of agriculture to re-establish as fast as practicable the pre-war parity between the purchasing power of farm and non farm income without discouraging production below the normal domestic human consumption in the years 1920-29.

Tenants to Participate

Also accepted with some modification was the house amendment permitting tenants and share croppers to participate in subsidy benefits under the temporary program.

Submitted for the house language declaring the secretary of agriculture in making grants shall consider the contribution in services and any loss of income sustained by tenants and share croppers, was a provision saying the secretary shall, so far as practicable, "protect" their interests. A compromise was reached on conflicting provisions laying the groundwork for determining state allotments.

To Consider Crop Values

The senate language saying the secretary, in making allotments, shall consider the "acreage and value of the major soil depleting and major export crops produced in the respective states during a representative period" was approved.

Stricken out was house language saying "farm population of the respective states and the value of agricultural commodities produced in respective states during a representative period but retained was the house clause including "acreage and productivity of land devoted to agricultural production."

This latter clause was explained to include lands devoted to dairy production. Smith said this was inserted to allay fears that dairy cattle growers would not benefit.

The conferees accepted house amendments directing the secretary to "protect the interests of small producers," and permitting the secretary to allot funds to federal bureaus and state governments to carry out the purposes of the proposed act.
